

Jesus Christ Is “the Righteous Judge” (2 Timothy 4:8)

Read aloud Psalm 9:8 and 96:11–13. Then invite each group member to share an attribute from the life of the Savior that demonstrates that Jesus Christ judges all people with righteousness. As you share attributes, you may want to discuss the following questions:

- How might this attribute affect how Jesus Christ judges us?
- In what way does this attribute increase your trust in the Savior’s suitability to be your judge?

After identifying specific attributes, discuss how Jesus Christ is different from all human judges. (Consider reviewing the statements by President Dallin H. Oaks and Elder Richard G. Scott in section 1 of the preparation material.) You could also discuss why it is important that the Savior embodies all of these attributes as our judge.

---

Read aloud Psalm 9:8 and 96:11–13. Then invite each group member to share an attribute from the life of the Savior that demonstrates that Jesus Christ judges all people with righteousness. As you share attributes, you may want to discuss the following questions:

- How might this attribute affect how Jesus Christ judges us?
- In what way does this attribute increase your trust in the Savior’s suitability to be your judge?

After identifying specific attributes, discuss how Jesus Christ is different from all human judges. (Consider reviewing the statements by President Dallin H. Oaks and Elder Richard G. Scott in section 1 of the preparation material.) You could also discuss why it is important that the Savior embodies all of these attributes as our judge.

---

Read aloud Psalm 9:8 and 96:11–13. Then invite each group member to share an attribute from the life of the Savior that demonstrates that Jesus Christ judges all people with righteousness. As you share attributes, you may want to discuss the following questions:

- How might this attribute affect how Jesus Christ judges us?
- In what way does this attribute increase your trust in the Savior’s suitability to be your judge?

After identifying specific attributes, discuss how Jesus Christ is different from all human judges. (Consider reviewing the statements by President Dallin H. Oaks and Elder Richard G. Scott in section 1 of the preparation material.) You could also discuss why it is important that the Savior embodies all of these attributes as our judge.