

Paul's Voyage to Rome

NEW TESTAMENT SEMINARY MANUAL

Roman soldiers brought Paul and other prisoners onto a ship of almost 300 people. Their voyage was slow, difficult, and dangerous because it was late in the fall, when violent storms occurred frequently.

Read Acts 27:9–13

During a terrible storm, attempts were made to repair the ship and lighten the cargo.

Read Acts 27:20–26

After 14 days of the terrible storm, they made a treacherous approach to land. The sailors dropped anchor and wanted to abandon the ship because they thought it would be dashed against the rocks.

Read Acts 27:30–36

After lightening the ship even further, they tried to land the ship.

Read Acts 27:41–44
